

How to subscribe to Tables of Content (TOC) for E journals via Burlew Medical Library

Burlew Medical Library

Why Subscribe to TOC electronically?

- In the past, Burlew Medical Library has routed journals or sent copies of TOC's to requestors
  - As we move away from print and towards a more digital collection, this service will only be available electronically
  - You will control your subscribed TOC's and won't need to worry about overdue notices
  - It's easy and convenient for you!!
  - The following slides will show you how to do this through different platforms such as OVID, EBSCO, and PubMed. You can also call us for help.

For OVID titles: go to Burlew Online Journals A-Z on the library website. OVID titles are designated in the far right column.

For Ebsco titles:

go to Burlew Online Journals A-Z on the library website. Ebsco titles are designated in the far right column.

1. Click on the title you want, i.e. Journal of Child and Adolescent Psychiatric Nursing
2. You can subscribe in one of 2 ways: method A: either through creating your own personal EBSCO account and then setting up an "alert" for the journal title you want to follow OR Method B: using RSS technology to subscribe to the journal title feed

Method A

First create your own personal EBSCO login. This will also allow you to change your preferences, store search results in folders and receive alerts for both individual journal titles and search topics.
